

Non-party campaigner      Access the guidance You can access the guidance by clicking the button below. Use the filters to narrow down your search to the type of guidance you need. You can also use the keyword search option to help you find something specific. Next NPCs Some individuals and organisations campaign in the run up to elections but do not stand as political parties or candidates. We call these individuals and organisations non-party campaigners. In electoral law they are called third parties. There are rules non-party campaigners must follow on campaign spending, donations and reporting. We regulate those rules. Updates and other useful pages Non-party campaigners: PEF Online and forms Are you holding a hustings? Notifications for joint campaigning and targeted spending