

You are Party A and you enter a pact with Party B but do not announce it or campaign
| Electoral Commission Election Pacts You are in the Election
Pacts section Home Election Pacts View the navigation tree Go to main guidance section: Election Pacts What does an election pact look like? Important things to remember about election pacts Which laws might apply? You want to enter a pact with Party B and you publicly announce this You are Party A and you enter a pact with Party B but do not announce it or campaign You are Party A and enter a pact with Party B, you announce it but you don't campaign You are party A and enter a pact with Party B, you announce it and then campaign You are one of several parties who are part of a large pact across several constituencies You are Party A and you enter a pact with Party B but do not announce it or campaign The rules on spending do not cover the organisation of an electoral pact where there is no other activity. There is no spending in this circumstance where the pact has been agreed but not publicised and no campaigning has occurred. Last updated: 24 May 2021 Book traversal links for You are Party A and you enter a pact with Party B but do not announce it or campaign
You want to enter a pact with Party B and you publicly announce this You are Party A and enter a pact with Party B, you announce it but you don't campaign