Last updated: 28 September 2023 Overview of what we produce and publish Our financial year starts 1 April, and ends 31 March the following year. We make estimates of what we think we'll spend, then review our spending at the end of the year in a report and a set of accounts. The Speaker's Committee approve our estimates, reports and accounts, before the House of Commons adopt them. Estimates Main Supply Estimate Our Main Supply Estimate, or budget, sets out what we need for the financial year ahead.

We present it to the Speaker's Committee at the start of the financial year for approval, before it goes to the House of Commons. Main Supply Estimate for 2023/24
