

Observing elections and referendums | Electoral Commission    Search

Observing elections and referendums    You are in the   section Home   In this section Apply to be an individual accredited observer Apply to be an accredited organisation Accredited Organisations: submission of additional names Electoral observer code of practice Registers of accredited electoral observers Guidance and feedback for observing elections What electoral observers do One of our roles is to authorise people and organisations to observe UK elections and relevant referendums. You need to apply to become an accredited electoral observer if you want to observe the: issue or receipt of postal ballot papers taking of the poll counting of the votes You can apply as an individual observer, or as an organisation. You need to be 16 or over to be an electoral observer. The deadline to apply to become an accredited observer for the Elections held on 04 May is 18 April. The deadline to apply to become an accredited observer for the Elections held on 18 May is 02 May.