

Make an allegation | Electoral Commission   Search   Make an allegation

You are in the section Home On this page Before contacting us Allegations we handle Allegations we don't handle Other considerations How to make an allegation First published: 17 June 2019 Last updated: 13 June 2021 What to do before contacting us We recommend taking a look at what we do and don't regulate before contacting us. This will save you time and make sure your allegation is dealt with by the right organisation. Allegations we handle We handle allegations about the political finances of: Political parties Non-party campaigners Individual party members and those who hold elected office, like MPs Referendum campaigners Members associations Unincorporated associations, which is any group of more than two people Allegations we don't handle Report these allegations to the police: The behaviour or political finances of an individual candidate Non-party campaigners who campaign for or against a specific candidate The intimidation or harassment of candidates, campaigners or holders of elective office, whether in writing or in person Speak to your local authority if you have concerns about: how an election was run in your area, such as electoral registration, postal voting or a polling station someone's behaviour in a polling station how a political party has used a local council's facilities any marketing or communications, such as social media posts, shared by them during the 'pre-election' period which you think may be of a political nature Find your local authority Most political campaign material is not regulated in the UK. However, you can speak to Ofcom if you are concerned that: a TV advert might be of a political nature, as political TV broadcasts are banned in the UK Speak to a political party if you are concerned about: how they got your name, address or email address to send you campaign material an internal party dispute any unpaid invoices to suppliers Speak to the Information Commissioners Office \(ICO\) if you are concerned about: the use of your personal data Other considerations about your allegation Please also be aware that: we don't usually consider anonymous allegations, unless you are a whistle-blower. If you are, please contact us your allegation must be supported by credible evidence How to make an allegation You can make an allegation by filling out the contact us form or by writing to us at this address: Party and Election Finance The Electoral Commission 3 Bunhill Row London EC1Y 8YZ Related content   about our enforcement work Electoral law is out of date. Find out where we want to see improvements Political parties, campaigners and other groups have to report their finances to us. Find out about campaign spending, donations and loans and annual accounts.